LEARNING SEAT ENLISTS CLAYTON UTZ TO MANAGE COMPLIANCE COURSES

Online training and legal specialists combine to produce first-class compliance courses

Online training and compliance management provider Learning Seat has formed a strategic alliance with leading Australian law firm Clayton Utz to develop and deliver Learning Seat's program of legal compliance management courses.

The alliance will see Clayton Utz administer the program for Learning Seat, including designing the program's seven compliance courses and the content of these courses.

Michael Solomon, chief executive officer of Learning Seat, emphasised the importance of legal compliance and said it was important that employers had the right tools for their employees to meet their legal compliance obligations.

"As a mandatory requirement for all organisations in Australia, providing a high-class compliance management service is essential.

"With Clayton Utz now on board to manage our suite of compliance management courses, we are enhancing our offering to the market. Clayton Utz is one of Australia's leading law firms and we are very excited to be working with them."

The seven compliance courses currently comprising the program are:

1. OHS in the Office
2. Equal Employment Opportunity
3. Sexual Harassment Prevention
4. Bullying Prevention
5. Privacy
6. Trade Practices – An Introduction
7. Trade Practices and Consumer Protection.

Randal Dennings, who heads the National Compliance Division at Clayton Utz said Learning Seat's online compliance management package was a valuable resource for organisations.

"In these uncertain economic times, Learning Seat's compliance offering is designed to be both flexible and cost-effective – a true value proposition for employers.

"Learning Seat has been providing ongoing compliance assistance for organisations for almost 10 years. We are thrilled to be partnering with the company to help boost their compliance offering."
